WINGS OVER WASHINGTON

Bremerton National Airport Hosts First Air Show in 30 Years!

We at the Port of Bremerton are excited to announce that our Bremerton National Airport will be hosting the first air show in Bremerton in 30 years! Partnering with Freedom Fair, a 501(c)3 nonprofit, we will be showcasing aerial acrobatic displays with a military presence, a car show, armed forces displays, a variety of vendors, food options, a beer garden, and entertainment for the entire family.

Port CEO Jim Rothlin stated that “we’ve been looking for an air show opportunity for our airport for years. It’s nice that we’ve been able to partner with a company that has already had such great success at other airports in Washington and are looking forward to providing this opportunity for our community.”

We look forward to welcoming everyone to our community airport for a fun recreational activity. Some may remember the fly-ins we’ve hosted in past years and while this event will be bigger, we are proud to say we will still have the car show component as well.

Port Commissioner & President Axel Strakeljahn states that “we are proud to not only be providing a region-wide event, but one with such a strong military focus. We look forward to the public sharing in this event at Bremerton National Airport.”

At the Port of Bremerton, community is always our focus – whether it be generating economic development or promoting tourism, both of which will be accomplished by the air show. We hope that those in the community will join us in the excitement by staying tuned for ticket purchase information and following along on social media; both the Port of Bremerton and Freedom Fair producing Wings Over Washington will give first-hand information.

President and CEO of the Freedom Fair, Tony La Stella, states that “our entire organization is thrilled to bring WINGS OVER WASHINGTON to the Bremerton and Kitsap communities. With 50+ years of experience, the Freedom Fair became one of the largest destination events in the country. There is great potential to develop WINGS OVER WASHINGTON on a similar scale and we are honored to partner with the Bremerton National Airport and the Port of Bremerton to make this happen.”

We will be hosting a media day on August 18, inviting all media to experience a portion of the event ahead of time. There will be opportunity to get photos and videos of aircraft, interview participating pilots, and possible plane rides. We encourage anyone interested to RSVP ahead of time by replying to the contact info below.
